Washington, Feb. 26.—The government's case for cancellation of the oil leases granted by former Secretary of the Interior Fall and Secretary of the Navy Denby to E. L. Doheny and H. F. Sinclair will virtually stand or fall on the outcome of injunction suits shortly to be instituted to halt withdrawal of oil from the reserves.

Because of this, Atlee Pomerene and Owen J. Roberts, special presidential counsel, in whose hands President Coolidge has placed prosecution of the case, have taken special pains, it was understood, to be ready to fight out the major issues of the case at an early stage of the battle. This, it was said at their offices, explains the delay in taking definite action.

Pomerene and Roberts believe that the defendant oil companies will force the government to show its hand almost immediately after the suit is filed, to check further oil losses from the reserves. As soon as temporary injunctions are asked, the counsel anticipates that Sinclair and Doheny will ask the courts for immediate hearings on making the injunction permanent, forcing the government into the open. This applies only to civil suits. Whatever criminal action may be contemplated will be taken later with the convening of a special grand jury.

The task of Pomerene and Roberts, it was explained today, is difficult because of mountains of documents and testimony to be examined on the one hand, and the unavailability of much of it for court use on the other. With six assistants they are holding daily conferences sifting the material turned over to them by the senate investigating committee, and searching the books for applicable laws.

Chicago, Feb. 26.—William F. Young, Jr., advertising copy writer, and Jessie Reed, Ziegfeld follies dancer, were married early Sunday at Waukegan, Ill.

Mrs. Young declared last night that she is "through with the stage; I'm just going to be Mrs. William F. Young now."

Friends said the dancer met Mr. Young for the first time late Saturday, and that the wooing took place at an after the theatre dinner party that night, but Young says he met the follies girl on Long Island four years ago and they "have been close friends ever since."

The Follies cast left Chicago Sunday, appearing in Milwaukee Monday night minus Miss Reed.

Miss Reed was married in November, 1921, to Dan Caselli, Cleveland boy millionaire, and was divorced one year ago yesterday.

VENTION

Des Moines, Feb. 26.—President Coolidge will receive the support of Iowa for the republican presidential nomination, supporters of Coolidge said today on the basis of returns received today. Reports from 76 of the counties, where republican conventions were conducted, show Mr. Coolidge was endorsed in 49.

The conventions were marked particularly by the absence of political issues. Adjusted compensation for the soldiers, the Teapot Dome scandal and the world court were only lightly touched.

Charles A. Rawson, Des Moines, was approved by about one-third of the conventions for national committee, to succeed John T. Adams of Indiana.

Senator Smith W. Brookhart obtained few endorsements. His own county, Washington, refused to adopt a resolution commending him.

A new element was injected into the Polk county convention with the introduction of the Ku Klux Klan as active participants.

A check up is said to have revealed that 33 of the 88 delegates chosen were members of the hooded order. Klan leaders claim that 56 were members of the secret society or are friendly to its program.

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Feb. 26.—St. Paul police have been asked to search for burglars who Sunday night raided 15 Hastings residences.

The robberies occurred while the owners were away at church or shows between 8 p. m. and midnight.

Only small amounts of money and jewelry were taken at each of the homes, but the total amount of the loot will run into several thousand dollars, Hastings police say.

The burglars apparently gained their entrance to the homes with skeleton keys, which were found at one of the places robbed late in the evening.

Police believed the burglars were frightened away from this house by the return of the occupants and in departing hastily, forgot their keys.

NEW PHILADELPHIA
FOUNDED IN NEAR EAST BY ARMENIANS

(By United Press)
Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 26.—A new city of Philadelphia has been started in the heart of the Caucasus Mountains, on the eastern slopes of Mount Ararat, according to a cablegram received here by the Near East Relief.

A model Armenian village, including houses, barns, cattle sheds, community gardens and a park, has been erected by the boys' classes in home economies at the Near East Relief Orphanage, the cablegram sent from Alexandropol, Armenia, said.

"The village has been named Philadelphia in recognition of the relief work by the people of that city. The name in Armenian, however, is Yeghpairagon-Tser."

This is the third town in the Near East to bear the name of Philadelphia. The other two, dating back twenty centuries or more, are located in Palestine and the second near Smyrna, in Asia Minor. They were founded by the ancient Greeks.

Philadelphia was known in the Quaker days as "the city of Brotherly Love," and Yeghpairagon-Tser is the Armenian equivalent for "Brotherly Love."

Extending United States
Potato Warehouse Act

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 26.—Plans for extension of the United States warehouse act to potato warehouses will be presented by H. S. Yohe, in charge of the administration of the federal warehouse act here today.

Under the act government licensed warehouses are authorized to issue federal receipts to owners of stored products.

Federal warehouse certificates, it was explained by C. M. Morgan, in charge of organization of the North Dakota Potato Exchange, are the best possible basis for credit for a co-operative.

"They are universally accepted," Mr. Morgan pointed out, "by bankers as good collateral because the regulations of the warehouse department for classification of warehouses, personnel, finances and method of operating are very high."

"It is simply a matter of working out methods from a practical standpoint of operation in such a way as to make the certificates good."

The problem in the case of a semi-perishable like potatoes, is greater than with non-perishable goods.

NEW SOLDIER BONUS
BILL PROVIDES FOR AN INSURANCE AWARD

Washington, Feb. 26.—Another soldier bonus bill providing for 26 year endowment insurance for all World war veterans was introduced yesterday by Representative Fish, republican, New York. Policies would begin at $400 for 60 days' service and would increase $100 for each six months thereafter to $1,600 for 21 months and over. After the third year veterans could borrow on their policies but in no event would the government loan them more than 50 per cent of the face value of their policies.

Mr. Fish, who is a war veteran, estimated that the total cost of his plan if all veterans applied for insurance would be $2,280,549,311. He said he would press for its passage as a substitute for the McKenzie bill which is similar to the measure vetoed by President Harding.

NEW INVENTION TO

THE NEW MOTOR FUEL

(By United Press)
Berlin, Feb. 26.—Germany and other lands, poor in petroleum fields, but rich in coal, will soon be independent of the world's oil trusts as the result of the discovery of "Synthol," by Professor Dr. Franz Fischer and Dr. Trosch.

In an exclusive interview with the United Press today, Professor Fischer, director of the "Kaiser Wilhelm Institute for Coal Research" in Mulheim, Ruhr, declared that it will be possible hereafter to make Synthol, resembling gasoline, "in any desired quantity from coal."

Synthol will not come into question for America at the moment, he declared, and will be useful for that land only when the vast American supplies of gasoline begin to wane. He dissipated, too, the impression that Synthol could be made more cheaply than gasoline.

The significance of his discovery, however, lies in the fact that synthol can be made in any country which has coal or peat resources.

Fischer, one of Germany's foremost scientists, has achieved the position of head of the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute in Mulheim through years of brilliant labor.

His synthol discovery represents the work of nearly a score of years. His efforts in this direction went parallel with similar researches by the Badische Anilin and Soda Werke, but he was the first to discover a practical substitute for gasoline that can be commercially supplied.

"Our process," he said, "consists of obtaining water gas from coal, coke or half coke. With our system the water gas is converted into a volatile oil practically free from hydrocarbons. This synthetic oil which has been given the name of 'synthol,' is neither benzol nor benzol, though it can be converted into benzol if desired. This conversion, however, has merely scientific interest."

"Tests of synthol in motors has proved that it is superior to benzol (a gasoline like substance gained from coal.) We believe that our work means the beginning of a new kind of fuel for motor vehicles. There is still considerable to do before the process is fully adapted to commercial purposes. We feel that our many years' devotion to this problem was justified because through it, it is possible to create in any desired quantity volatile motor fuels in countries which have no petroleum, but have coal or peat."

The patent for the Fischer process is still held in Germany, though experiments are being made in Austria with his product.

"The new fuel synthol," said Fischer, "is not at all identical with benzol. It can, however, replace benzol and is in my opinion even better than benzol."

St. Paul, Feb. 26.—Progress of finance and organization was mapped out today for farm bureaus in Minnesota, Iowa, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri.

Fifty representatives from these states met yesterday at the old capitol for the purpose of formulating the program. They finished their work today.

This organization is in connection with the $10,000,000 farm relief corporation recently formulated in Chicago, but it not entirely dependent upon it.

Representing the national organization were John W. Coverdale, secretary-treasurer and director of the American farm bureau federation; E. P. Taylor, assistant director; and A. R. Simpson, assistant director in charge of finance.

Similar meetings are to be held at Hartford, Connecticut, and Lansing, Michigan.

(By United Press)
Fargo, N. D., Feb. 26.—A telegram urging withdrawal of Senator La Follette's name from the March presidential primaries in this state was received today by Hugh L. Burdick, chairman of the Hiram Johnson campaign in North Dakota. The message was signed by Senator Lynn J. Frazier and Congressman James H. Sinclair, both of North Dakota.

It says: "We are authorized to say this is in accordance with La Follette's wishes. La Follette's name was put into the North Dakota presidential primaries on urgent request of progressive republicans. La Follette will not leave the senate where matters of utmost importance to the entire nation require his presence, to campaign in this state or elsewhere, and as apparently his campaign is not being conducted in a manner to insure vigorous presentation of issues, he urges withdrawal."

Some elements of the nonpartisan league were backing La Follette here.

Dollenmayer Named

Minneapolis, Feb. 26.—Albert Dollenmayer, president of the Dollenmayer Advertising agency, 315 Marquette avenue, yesterday was named by District Judge George W. Buffington as receiver of the Northwest Publishing company, owners of the Minnesota Daily Star, under bond of $25,000. A receivership was asked by creditors.

Mr. Dollenmayer was appointed by the court after attorneys for opposing factions contesting for control of the paper had informed Judge Buffington they could not agree on choice of a receiver.

On motion of attorneys representing Judge Harold Baker and other directors of the company, an action asking for an injunction preventing Thomas Van Lear and William Thompson from exercising any control over the paper was dismissed.

Higher Education and
Small Families Are Hit
As "Worse Than War"

San Francisco, Feb. 26.—Higher education is more devastating to the human race than war, Dr. S. J. Holes, professor of zoology at the University of California, asserted in a lecture at the academy of science here. This, the professor said, is because of the prevalence of small families among the "highly intelligent," which tends toward the extinction of "better endowed stock."

Compared with the continual drain on the better human stocks by higher education the drain of war is relatively small, Dr. Holes declared. He said Roosevelt was right in saying four children to a family were necessary if the race is to be perpetuated.

The country, Dr. Holes said, is confronted with the two fold problem of keeping down the general birth rate and of increasing that of "highly endowed stock."

Washington, Feb. 26.—The statement made by William G. McAdoo in a telegram from Los Angeles that his law firm would have received a fee of $1,000,000 from the Doheny interests if its negotiations in the Doheny company's Mexican affairs had been successful, was a subject of discussion among members of the investigating committee and political leaders here.

There was no decision reached to recall Mr. McAdoo as a witness before the committee, but there was an intimation that if Doheny appeared again to make good his promise to supply the signature to the torn note which he says former Secretary A. B. Fall gave him in exchange for $100,000, Doheny would be asked further about his relations with McAdoo.

The impression here seemed to be that the latest details in regard to his Doheny connections made by Mr. McAdoo yesterday, had further injured his candidacy for the democratic nomination for president. Most Washington observers have reached the conclusion that the McAdoo boom will be short lived.

GANIZATION WAS CONSID-ERED TODAY

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Feb. 26.—Progress of finance and organization was mapped out today for farm bureaus in Minnesota, Iowa, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri.

Fifty representatives from these states met yesterday at the old capitol for the purpose of formulating the program. They finished their work today.

This organization is in connection with the $10,000,000 farm relief corporation recently formulated in Chicago, but it not entirely dependent upon it.

Representing the national organization were John W. Coverdale, secretary-treasurer and director of the American farm bureau federation; E. P. Taylor, assistant director; and A. R. Simpson, assistant director in charge of finance.

Similar meetings are to be held at Hartford, Connecticut, and Lansing, Michigan.

LA FOLLETTE MAY WITHDRAW FROM
N. D. PRIMARIES

(By United Press)

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 26.—A telegram urging withdrawal of Senator La Follette's name from the March presidential primaries in this state was received today by Hugh L. Burdick, chairman of the Hiram Johnson campaign in North Dakota. The message was signed by Senator Lynn J. Frazier and Congressman James H. Sinclair, both of North Dakota.

It says: "We are authorized to say this is in accordance with La Follette's wishes. La Follette's name was put into the North Dakota presidential primaries on urgent request of progressive republicans. La Follette will not leave the senate where matters of utmost importance to the entire nation require his presence, to campaign in this state or elsewhere, and as apparently his campaign is not being conducted in a manner to insure vigorous presentation of issues, he urges withdrawal."

Some elements of the nonpartisan league were backing La Follette here.

Dollenmayer Named
Receiver for Paper

Minneapolis, Feb. 26.—Albert Dollenmayer, president of the Dollenmayer Advertising agency, 315 Marquette avenue, yesterday was named by District Judge George W. Buffington as receiver of the Northwest Publishing company, owners of the Minnesota Daily Star, under bond of $25,000. A receivership was asked by creditors.

Mr. Dollenmayer was appointed by the court after attorneys for opposing factions contesting for control of the paper had informed Judge Buffington they could not agree on choice of a receiver.

On motion of attorneys representing Judge Harold Baker and other directors of the company, an action asking for an injunction preventing Thomas Van Lear and William Thompson from exercising any control over the paper was dismissed.

Washington, Feb. 26.—President Coolidge has sent to the senate the nomination of William Phillips, now under secretary of state, to be American ambassador to Belgium. The Belgian post has been vacated by Henry P. Fletcher, recently nominated as minister to Rome.

Higher Education and
Small Families Are Hit
As "Worse Than War"

San Francisco, Feb. 26.—Higher education is more devastating to the human race than war, Dr. S. J. Holes, professor of zoology at the University of California, asserted in a lecture at the academy of science here. This, the professor said, is because of the prevalence of small families among the "highly intelligent," which tends toward the extinction of "better endowed stock."

Compared with the continual drain on the better human stocks by higher education the drain of war is relatively small, Dr. Holes declared. He said Roosevelt was right in saying four children to a family were necessary if the race is to be perpetuated. The country, Dr. Holes said, is confronted with the two fold problem of keeping down the general birth rate and of increasing that of "highly endowed stock."

"McADOO'S MILLION"
STIRS WASHINGTONPOLITICAL OBSERVERS BELIEVE
HIS DEMOCRATIC PRESIDEN-TIAL BOOM SHORT-LIVED

Washington, Feb. 26.—The statement made by William G. McAdoo in a telegram from Los Angeles that his law firm would have received a fee of $1,000,000 from the Doheny interests if its negotiations in the Doheny company's Mexican affairs had been successful, was a subject of discussion among members of the investigating committee and political leaders here.

There was no decision reached to recall Mr. McAdoo as a witness before the committee, but there was an intimation that if Doheny appeared again to make good his promise to supply the signature to the note, which he says former Secretary A. B. Falf gave him in exchange for $100,000, Doheny would be asked further about his relations with McAdoo.

The impression here seemed to be that the latest details in regard to his Doheny connections made by Mr. McAdoo yesterday, had further injured his candidacy for the democratic nomination for president. Most Washington observers have reached the conclusion that the McAdoo boom will be short lived.

Nineteen of Betag's children are all his own; nine by his first marriage; ten by his second marriage. His second wife brought his three stepchildren and he adopted four others. Seven of the children are policemen. "I did not raise my boys to be bums but to get on the police force," the bridegroom said. "I did more for my country than any other man, for twelve of my boys served in the army. Some record, eh?"

Monitor and Merrimac.

On May 15, 1862, in company with the Galena, the Naugatuck, Port Royal, and Arrostook, the Monitor participated in an unsuccessful attempt to capture Richmond, and on December 31, 1862, while en route to Beaufort, N. Counting by Tens.

Our system of counting by tens started ages ago when men counted on their fingers. Because they had ten fingers, a numbering on their hands made a unit of counting, and that was the beginning of the decimal system. A count on their fingers and toes resulted in twenty and thus the checking off of things by scores began.

Brainerd High School Senior Class
Play Scores a Brilliant

DIRECTED BY MISS TORNSTROM

Cast Interpreted Various Parts of Booth Tarkington's Comedy With Rare Ability

A crowded house greeted "Seventeen," the Brainerd high school Senior Class play, staged at the New Park theatre on Monday evening. The performance will be repeated tonight and an equally large attendance will be forthcoming, judging from the advance ticket sale.

"Seventeen" is typical of that age in the adolescent boy and girl, and those in the cast took their parts with a very good interpretation of the characters they portrayed.

Willie Baxter, aged seventeen, was the title role taken by Eugene Hitch, who deserves special mention for the commendable manner in which he presented his part. Willie is just at the "touchy" age when the dress suit becomes an absolute necessity and love a most marvelous realization. His mother weeps over him and his father can't understand him, and there's a new girl in the community who is taking the fellows by storm.

Jane, his kid sister, is the worst thorn in Willie's side. They fight continually and produce a line of comedy that keeps the audience in an uproar. Miss Lucile O'Connor takes the difficult role of Jane, and handles it as well as a professional, winning much favorable comment for her interpretation of lines.

The direction of the play was capably handled by Miss Mary Tornstrom, principal of the high school. F. W. Rose, manual training director, acted as stage carpenter, and Harold Molstad as business manager.

The music was in charge of Miss Marion Opsahl, supervisor of music in the public schools. Her orchestration was made up of the following:

First violins, Lorraine Morrison, Sophie Brending, Clifford Gustafson, Jennie McCarthy, Eunice Johnson, Marion Romain. Second violins, Carl Peterson, Maurice Borkon, Clarinets, Elmer Peterson, Hans Pflock. Cornets, Gilbert Sabin, Joe Romaine. Piano, Gertrude Goedderz. Drums, William Opsahl.

The orchestra rendered very creditably the following selections: The Pilgrims Chorus, Marcheta, The West a Nest and You, Mighty lak a Rore, Kashmiri Song, and the Scarf Dance.

As specialties between the acts, a double male quartet sang: "Won't you be my H'm Dori." The quartet was composed of Wesley Dahl, George Weisz, Hans Warjener, Ralph Hebert, Clarence Brown, Earl Engbretson, Gifford Peterson and William Zakariasen.

The girls sextet, composed of the Misses Aileen King, Gladys McKenna, Maysie Carmichael, Myrtle Haake, Dorothy Harris and Gertrude Goedderz, sang "Thank God for a Garden" and "The Elephant and the Chimpanzee."

The cast of characters is as follows:

Mr. Baxter, the much harassed father—Kenneth Nicholson.

Mrs. Baxter, her worried wife—Mildred Brown.

Willie Baxter, aged seventeen—Eugene Hitch.

Jane, his demon sister—Lucille O'Connor.

Lola Pratt, the girl from out of town—Marion Bachelder.

YOUR MAINSTAY

By Helen Harrington Downing

As a single item in the diet, meat is one of the most important—a fact which has been recognized since the beginning of time.

The daily menu is practically always built around meat as the main dish of the meal—for one reason, that the protein of meat is necessary in the diet,—the other protein foods lacking that identical protein element,—and second because it has been proven that an exclusively vegetarian diet is likely to cause weakness and anemia, thereby reducing the powers of resisting disease.

Since the taste and enjoyment of foods are indispensable to efficient digestion, it is sound policy to serve and eat foods which taste good, so the housewife cannot be amiss in serving meat in some form at least once a day.

Aside from being one of the most appetizing and satisfying of foods, and that it is needed in the diet, there are several reasons why it should be used freely.

One reason is that meat is high in nutritive value. It contains relatively large quantities of protein in its most palatable, stimulating and digestible form, besides liberal quantities of fat, for producing energy, heat and muscular power. Also vitamins, substances about which there is little known except that they are necessary for the normal growth and development, are present in meat in sufficient quantities for nutritional requirements.

One of Nature's ways of indicating what is proper to eat is through the appetite and one of the strongest of human appetites is the liking for meat. No other food contributes so much to the palatability of the diet. It is therefore important that we understand its nutritive value and its proper place in the diet. Meat is deficient in calcium, and is not a complete diet, especially for growing animals. Otherwise it serves all the requirements of the mature human being for food. Among the several classes of nutrients in meat, protein is highest. All active body cells contain protein as a prominent constituent. In assimilation there is less waste in meat protein than in vegetable protein because meat protein is better adapted to the needs of the body cells. While the fats of meats and the fats of vegetable foods have essentially the same nutritive value.

Mineral substances of meat have about the same values as the mineral substances of vegetables and fruits, but meat is notable for its contribution of iron, while vegetables and fruits greatly exceed meat in their calcium content.

Vegetables should be eaten with meat to give bulk, and for reason of the indigestible cellulose, the starch and the sugar which they contribute. Bulk is needed to give the sense of fullness which is necessary to give a satisfied feeling.

For these reasons we do not try to live by meat alone. A mixed diet of animal and vegetable foods, together with cereals, is man's natural diet.

For practical purposes, the different cuts of meat have about the same nutritive value. Difference in price of various cuts of the same grade express principally difference in ease of preparation, especially the amount of cooking required.

The real meal problem for the consumer, is simply one of wise buying and skillful preparation. A common weakness in the handling of the meat problem is that housewives have grown accustomed to using a very few cuts of kinds, these being the more expensive ones, mostly because it is easier to prepare them. It would be well for those who are interested in economy to give thought and time to the preparation of the less expensive cuts of meat, such as the hind quarter and fore quarter cuts other than the ribs. These parts require longer cooking than the loin, and may be economically prepared by cooking in a kettle with a tight lid, over a very low fire. They are equally nutritious compared with the more tender, and higher priced cuts, and may be made into very palatable dishes.

How to Select Good Meat

Good quality is generally indicated by the thickness of lean meat and liberal depth of fat. The very best beef has a smooth, uniform outside covering of clear white fat, and fine textured flesh of light red color, having a mixture of fat through the lean flesh.

Veal is pink and somewhat less firm than beef. Pork is dark pink, and the fat is less firm than that of either beef or mutton. Pork should cut easily and have a layer of pure white fat. Mutton is a dull brick color and lamb is light pink or grayish red, according to the age of the animal.

Meat should be firm to the touch and elastic, and should smell fresh. And, when buying meat, remember, there is less shrinkage in a good grade of meat in cooking than a cheaper grade. Paper in which meat is wrapped at the shop, should be removed when it reaches home and placed on a plate when putting it into the ice box. If the paper is left on, it absorbs much of the valuable juices, and the meat very often sticks to it.

The following recipes for the less expensive cuts of meat are worth your trying:

Roast Beef

Select for the medium size family a nice piece of chuck, weighing from three to five pounds. Wipe, place in rack in dripping pan, having the skin side down, rub over with salt, and dredge meat and pan with flour. Sear the surface quickly in a frying pan, so as to prevent escape of juices. Place in roast pan; add one cup hot water, basting with meat drippings. If meat is quite lean. Baste every ten minutes and when meat is about half done, turn over and dredge with flour, that the skin side may be upmost for final browning. For a roast weighing five pounds, time required for roasting is one hour and twenty minutes. The pan should be adapted to the size of the roast to prevent flour and broth from burning. Beef to be well roasted should be started in a hot oven and the heat reduced after the outside has been well seared.

Stuffed Veal Pocket

Select a shoulder piece of veal, weighing four or five pounds. Have a pocket made in center by removing bone. Stuff with a bread stuffing to which has been added two tablespoons fried bacon cut in small pieces. Throats Can Be Greatly Relieved By Use of this Vaporizing Salve.

Here is a simple yet effective method to treat a sore throat. Gargle with warm salt water three times daily. Also swallow slowly every few hours a teaspoonful of Vicks.

At night apply Vicks over the throat and upper chest, rubbing well in. Then spread on thickly and cover with a warm flannel cloth.

The body heat releases the ingredients—Menthol, Camphor, Eucalyptus, Juniper Tar, etc.—in the form of vapors and these vapors, inhaled all night long, go directly to the affected parts.

At the same time Vicks is absorbed thru and stimulates the skin like a liniment or plaster drawing out the soreness and pain.

Vicks is equally good for hoarseness, tonsillitis, head and chest colds, and for the croupy colds of children.

This Age of Oil

Speaking editorially, the Chicago Tribune, in its issue of February 3, says:

"Virtually every one in the nation is a user of oil and consumption grows at a rapid pace. We have a problem, therefore, not merely of conservation but of supply, and its solution is vital to the material prosperity and progress of the United States."

This able statement seems to us to justify further comment.

"Virtually every one in the nation is a user of oil"—oil in some form enters into the manufacture of every article of commerce. Without it the commodities you use could not be manufactured and sold for the price you pay now.

"Consumption grows at a rapid pace"—to illuminate this statement it is only necessary to show that in the ten states served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) there were, on January 1, 1924, 4,855,739 automotive vehicles registered. This is 807,367 more than were registered on January 1, 1923.

"Conservation"—it is a well-known fact that the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) by means of processes discovered and developed in its own laboratories has contributed more to increasing the yield of gasoline from a given quantity of crude than any other refiner. This increased yield was secured without in any way affecting the quality of the gasoline and without touching that portion of the crude which goes into the manufacture of lubricating oils.

"Vital to the material prosperity and progress of the United States"—comment here seems unnecessary as all must recognize the part played by petroleum in "This Age of Oil."

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has achieved its signal success in "This Age of Oil" by practicing the principles of fairness, equity and justice.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is proud of its position as a leader in the petroleum industry—it is proud of its success—it is proud that the service it has rendered has gained the respect, confidence and esteem of the thirty million people of the Middle West.

Simple Home Treatment for Sore Throat

Raw, Sore, Inflamed
Throats Can Be Greatly
Relieved By Use of
this Vaporizing Salve.

Here is a simple yet effective method to treat a sore throat. Gargle with warm salt water three times daily. Also swallow slowly every few hours a teaspoonful of Vicks.

At night apply Vicks over the throat and upper chest, rubbing well in. Then spread on thickly and cover with a warm flannel cloth.

The body heat releases the ingredients—Menthol, Camphor, Eucalyptus, Juniper Tar, etc.—in the form of vapors and these vapors, inhaled all night long, go directly to the affected parts.

At the same time Vicks is absorbed thru and stimulates the skin like a liniment or plaster drawing out the soreness and pain.

Vicks is equally good for hoarseness, tonsillitis, head and chest colds, and for the croupy colds of children.

This Age of Oil

Speaking editorially, the Chicago Tribune, in its issue of February 3, says:

"Virtually every one in the nation is a user of oil and consumption grows at a rapid pace. We have a problem, therefore, not merely of conservation but of supply, and its solution is vital to the material prosperity and progress of the United States."

This able statement seems to us to justify further comment.

"Virtually every one in the nation is a user of oil"—oil in some form enters into the manufacture of every article of commerce. Without it the commodities you use could not be manufactured and sold for the price you pay now.

"Consumption grows at a rapid pace"—to illuminate this statement it is only necessary to show that in the ten states served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) there were, on January 1, 1924, 4,855,739 automotive vehicles registered. This is 807,367 more than were registered on January 1, 1923.

"Conservation"—it is a well-known fact that the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) by means of processes discovered and developed in its own laboratories has contributed more to increasing the yield of gasoline from a given quantity of crude than any other refiner. This increased yield was secured without in any way affecting the quality of the gasoline and without touching that portion of the crude which goes into the manufacture of lubricating oils.

"Vital to the material prosperity and progress of the United States"—comment here seems unnecessary as all must recognize the part played by petroleum in "This Age of Oil."

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has achieved its signal success in "This Age of Oil" by practicing the principles of fairness, equity and justice.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is proud of its position as a leader in the petroleum industry—it is proud of its success—it is proud that the service it has rendered has gained the respect, confidence and esteem of the thirty million people of the Middle West.

"FOR THE GOOD OF ALL—ALL FOR THE GOOD"

ON March 3 the people of Brainerd will be afforded the opportunity to subscribe to "Our Heart Fund" for Salvation Army Home Service. An appeal will be made by 100 representative business men and club women of the city. Everyone will be afforded the opportunity to assist in this cause in which there is so much community interest.

The Salvation Army is so much of a community institution in Brainerd that it is unnecessary to endeavor to enumerate the many phases of its work.

The stronger such a force as the Salvation Army becomes in a community, the better for all of that community. It is a positive force for social betterment and reaches into corners where no other cleansing agencies enter. All money that can be spared for the Salvation Army may be given with a feeling that it is not a donation to charity, but a light civic tax upon all the reasonably fortunate, to aid in making more wholesome the lower levels of human society, for it is these levels upon which the security of the social structure depends.

The remarkable work of the Army during the war is still fresh in the minds of ex-service men and it is safe to say that no man who served overseas will overlook this opportunity to assist the Army in securing of necessary funds to maintain the efficiency of its work.

It has been truthfully said that the only creed of the Salvation Army is that greatest of Christian teachings, "My duty towards my neighbor is to love him as myself and to do unto all men as I would have them do unto me." Its church is on the corner; its work is wherever men, women, or children need help—in dingy homes among the poor or among the brightly lighted avenues. It demands no pledges in return for the aid it gives; it interferes with no sect or creed; it only seeks through the patient, loving, self-sacrificing service of its members to make this work an easier sojourning spot for the unfortunate and give them some hope for the hereafter.

MAKING BUDGETS BEFORE YOU MARRY

SOME people have a hard time figuring out budgets and living up to self-imposed rules after marriage, but that is as nothing compared with the dictum of Mrs. Anna Garlin Spencer who advocates making a budget before you marry to keep love from taking flight.

The only continental nation we know of which takes in the financial aspect of marriage before the vows are pronounced is France, where papa and mamma of both sides get their heads together and agree upon a dowry and other incidentals. It mixes a lot of Bradstreet reports with the flight of Cupid before the latter's wings have been pinioned by the vows.

Here is the platform of Mrs. Spencer and she offers many novel ideas:

1. A married woman should keep on earning if the interests of the family are best served in that way.
2. A man and woman about to be married should make their complete budget in advance.
3. They should also have a thorough understanding as to their desire for children, and how many, before entering into matrimony.

Covering the first point, she says in part that perhaps the wife is a poor housekeeper and an excellent bookkeeper—then, if she prefers to earn, why not?

On the second point, she would have lovers discussing grocery and meat bills, modiste and milliner, pumps and silk hose, theatre and golf club, life insurance and magazine subscriptions, all the intricacies of a household budget before they were mated. If some girl greeted an old bachelor with this talk before she had him securely wedded, he would be liable to flee back to his club before he ever assumed such a role of household financiering.

And then the last point. The stork is an independent bird, every bit as independent as the eagle on the American dollar. No budget speculation carries any weight with him.

STRIKES RIGHT NOTE

RT. REV. J. T. McNICHOLAS sounded the right note at a meeting of the Duluth Council of Catholic Women when he said, "The obvious duty of the sane-thinking man and woman today is to work against the insane tendency to multiply law, and to form and strengthen his or her own conscience." The bishop said further, in part:

"At present there is a mania for law-making, and all morality is placed in legislation. The conscience of the individual is not being trained nor developed. Laws are necessary, but their enforcement is almost impossible without the conscience of individuals.

"There are not so many basic principles governing the intellect and the will," he said, "but just now we are too analytical, we are gathering facts. These will be useful later on, however. Morality we are separating from all the sciences.

"Human society is but the sum total of all living men, and all men must obey the law. We must have respect for the law, and so long as a law remains even if it is doubtful, it must be obeyed. If the law is manifestly unjust, have it removed from the statute, but as long as it stands it must be obeyed. But an unjust law cannot be a law, because law must be for the common good.

"With this mania for lawmaking today, we need to bring together the men of sound balance, and trained judgment to form a public opinion on law making. In the analysis, the sense of morality of a community or nation is no stronger than the conscience of the individual."

TEAPOT DOME

TEAPOT DOME continues to drag its oily length through the pages of the papers, but to date there has been no court action. The revelations made by the inquiry of the senate have been startling at times, but if nothing but talk and no court actions ensue, the average Man in the Street will realize but precious little in actual results.

The leases have not been cancelled. Pumping of oil and taking of testimony continue without letup, it seems. One cabinet officer has resigned, but otherwise everybody else seems to be sitting tight.

LIGNITE FREIGHT RATES CONSIDERED

OPPONENTS OF INCREASED RATE TO STATE VIEWS ON MARCH 24

(By United Press)
 Bismarck, Feb. 26.—Opponents of increased lignite freight rates will have an opportunity to state their views on March 24th.

Hearings are being conducted before the interstate commerce committee and North Dakota railroad and warehouse commission, in joint meeting.

Ivan Bowen and A. L. Flynn are here representing the Minnesota state railroad and warehouse commission.

The proposed increase ranges from forty to sixty per cent.

J. G. Morrison, assistant general freight agent of the Northern Pacific, stated yesterday that lignite rates in North Dakota are lower than in Washington and Montana and that the latter's rates are too low. He said lignite rates are lower generally than other commodities.

Opposing the increase are commercial clubs and lignite operators.

leaders this afternoon thwarted democratic aims to begin the probe of Attorney General Daugherty's administration, while President Coolidge and his cabinet cast about vainly for a solution of the curious situation, during several conferences at the White House.

Immediately upon the opening of the senate, Senator Robinson, democratic leader, asked for unanimous consent to take up immediately the Wheeler resolution authorizing a special committee to investigate Daugherty's conduct in the justice department.

Senator Lodge, republican leader, promptly objected so that consideration of the resolution which was reported favorably from the senate contingent today goes over.

While this action was taking place in the senate, President Coolidge, after the regular cabinet meeting, conferred first with Daugherty, then Secretary Weeks, Postmaster General New and Secretary of Labor Davis.

Daugherty was the first to leave this session, declaring there was nothing to be said on the subject of his remaining in the cabinet.

Later Weeks, who was the last to leave the White House, indicated no new development in the situation would occur immediately.

This was confirmed when it was officially stated at the White House, on behalf of Mr. Coolidge, that there would be no statement from the president on the Daugherty case today.

BIG POLITICIAN DRAWN INTO SCANDAL

Washington, Feb. 26.—The name of a big politician—not an official of the government—was drawn into the oil leasing scandal while the Teapot Dome committee delved today into telegrams of Edward B. McLean, publisher of the Washington Post.

The identity of the politician was not definitely established in the telegrams but if he is the man the committee thinks he is, a new sensational story of official intrigue is expected to be revealed.

One member of the committee considering the evidence, said it might prove sufficient to "wreck another political career."

The telegrams were examined by the committee in executive session to trace connections between high officials and former Secretary of the Interior Fall, who was a guest of McLean, in Palm Beach, when the lid of the scandal was first torn off.

6 SENATORS TO INVESTIGATE DAUGHERTY

Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 26.—Senator Frank B. Willis, Ohio, announced here today the names of six senators he has suggested to investigate the conduct of Attorney General Daugherty.

They are: William Borah, Idaho; Wesley Jones, Washington; Richard Ernest, Kentucky; Bert Fernald, Maine; Robert Howell, Nebraska, and Samuel Shortridge, California.

CALLS COMMITTEE "INVERTEBRATE LIAR"

Washington, Feb. 26.—Characterizing the republican national committee as an "invertebrate liar," Senator Walsh, Montana, leading oil investigator, today challenged any republican senator to contest charges he had "fathered" in the naval oil leasing legislation.

Republican Senators Smoot and Benroot, past and present chairman of the public lands committee, rose and assured Walsh that in their opinion his denial of responsibility for naval oil reserve leasing legislation was in every particular correct.

Walsh charged the republican national committee with attempting to "hamper" the investigation by "misrepresentation of the facts seeking to bring disrespect upon it, and destroy public confidence in it.

MINNESOTA BANKING SITUATION IMPROVES

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Feb. 26.—The Minnesota banking situation is rapidly improving.

Only one state bank has been closed in the last month, while for a time there was approximately one every other day.

These facts were pointed out today by A. J. Veigel, state superintendent of banks, who is in intimate touch with financial affairs of all of the state banks, which have been the chief sufferers of the disastrous conditions.

Not only has there been only one bank failure in the last month, but plans are rapidly progressing for reopening of that one bank, he said.

"The worst is over," he said this morning. "The banking situation is improving, and conditions point to a continuance of the improvement.

"Many of the banks throughout the state have paid assessments and cleaned up all their doubtful papers. As a whole they are in much better shape than they were a year ago.

"The section of the state where diversified farming and especially dairying have been practiced extensively have had very little trouble. The state rural credits loan, particularly in the northwestern part of the state, have been a great factor in improving conditions and the new $10,000,000 northwest agricultural service corporation will also help materially this year."

Mr. Veigel declared there was every reason to believe that 1924 will show an improvement in both banking and the general business conditions in the state.

This Big Bill at Regular Prices

Where would we be anyway if it weren't for advertising?

What a lot of time advertising saves us! We need something. We see it advertised. And we go straight from where we are now to where the article is sold.

Have you ever gone around from place to place seeking for something which you knew existed but which nobody else seemed to know anything about, not even the storekeepers?

You have wasted an hour, maybe several hours, possibly half a day. You have worn out your patience, and before the end of the quest probably you began to figure that the thing which you sought was not, after all, so good as you thought it was, otherwise other people besides yourself would know something about it.

The manufacturer who advertises, invests his money, therefore, not alone to tell of the merits of his goods but to save you time. The manufacturer who is willing to pay for advertising space in newspapers or magazines in order to point out to you where his merchandise is sold, so that you may get there quicker and buy it easier, is not going to skimp or cheat in manufacturing it.

After going to all the trouble and expense of telling you just where you may find it, he is going to see to it that when you do buy it, it is good enough so that you will buy it again.

And in making up your mind about merchandise which is advertised, consider this last thought—the manufacturer can well afford to make it as good as it can be made because one sale means hundreds, even thousands of others following naturally and costing him nothing extra.

BIG POLITICIAN DRAWN INTO SCANDAL

Washington, Feb. 26.—The name of a big politician—not an official of the government—was drawn into the oil leasing scandal while the Teapot Dome committee delved today into telegrams of Edward B. McLean, publisher of the Washington Post.

The identity of the politician was not definitely established in the telegrams but if he is the man the committee thinks he is, a new sensational story of official intrigue is expected to be revealed.

One member of the committee considering the evidence, said it might prove sufficient to "wreck another political career."

The telegrams were examined by the committee in executive session to trace connections between high officials and former Secretary of the Interior Fall, who was a guest of McLean, in Palm Beach, when the lid of the scandal was first torn off.

This Big Bill at Regular Prices

Where would we be anyway if it weren't for advertising?

What a lot of time advertising saves us! We need something. We see it advertised. And we go straight from where we are now to where the article is sold.

Have you ever gone around from place to place seeking for something which you knew existed but which nobody else seemed to know anything about, not even the storekeepers?

You have wasted an hour, maybe several hours, possibly half a day. You have worn out your patience, and before the end of the quest probably you began to figure that the thing which you sought was not, after all, so good as you thought it was, otherwise other people besides yourself would know something about it.

The manufacturer who advertises, invests his money, therefore, not alone to tell of the merits of his goods but to save you time. The manufacturer who is willing to pay for advertising space in newspapers or magazines in order to point out to you where his merchandise is sold, so that you may get there quicker and buy it easier, is not going to skimp or cheat in manufacturing it.

After going to all the trouble and expense of telling you just where you may find it, he is going to see to it that when you do buy it, it is good enough so that you will buy it again.

And in making up your mind about merchandise which is advertised, consider this last thought—the manufacturer can well afford to make it as good as it can be made because one sale means hundreds, even thousands of others following naturally and costing him nothing extra.

"DRAFT MAKES YOUNG PLAYERS HUSTLE"

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Feb. 26.—Owners of minor league clubs insist that it would not be practical and would not be good business for them to agree to a restoration of the old draft agreement by which the major leagues were entitled to the best of the minor league players, for the nominal draft price.

Club owners naturally consider business first and there is much to support their argument that it would not be a sound financial move to allow a major league club to draw a star player and pay $5,000 for him when the same player might be sold on the open market for $50,000.

Minor league managers, however, are more inclined to look at the practical side because they are paid to develop a winning team and their salary depends entirely upon the degree of success they meet with.

During the recent baseball meetings here, some very interesting opinions on the draft as it affects the playing standard of the minor leagues were voiced by a former minor league manager, one of the best in the business, who is now affiliated with a prominent major league club.

"I have had my own ideas in the past," he said, "but as my employer was not in favor of the draft, it would have been inconsistent and, at the same time, unwise for me to express my views to the contrary."

"I have always felt, and I feel now, that the draft was a fine thing for baseball and that it made the minor leagues because it inspired the player to hustle. You can have good baseball only when the players do hustle."

"Supposing I have two or three good young ball players on my club and they are ambitious to get in the major leagues. I wouldn't give a rap for a young player who didn't aspire to get in the big league. They come to me and ask me if I couldn't do something to get them up on the big time, and I would tell them, as I have told many young players: 'Get out and hustle and you'll be drafted by some major league club. They like hustlers in the major leagues and once you get there you'll get plenty of help if you have the right spirit.'"

"I have observed the contrast in the spirit of young players since the draft was turned down against that of the old days when the majors used to get together at the end of the season and draw the stars from the minors."

"When the draft was working, young players used to hustle from the first to the last game of the season. They were in there all the time. They didn't run wide into a base and they didn't swing at anything that came up to them. They figured that they had a chance to cash in on their extra efforts and they went to it."

"Now they know that when they develop to the point where they are wanted in the majors that their boss will demand some exorbitant sum for them and that they will not get the chance to go up. They get the idea then that they are major league player and they demand a major league player's salary. If they don't get what they want, they will play for you, but they'll only give you two hours' work a day, and not very serious work at that."

ROCHESTER INSISTS SWEDE RISBERG BE ALLOWED IN LEAGUE

Owatonna, Feb. 26.—Reorganization of the Southern Minnesota Baseball association and definite action toward its composition and policies was postponed until Tuesday, March 4, because too few clubs had been fully organized and because representatives present at Sunday's meeting did not know the sentiments of their clubs on important matters.

The gathering, however, discussed increases in club deposits in the league treasury, game guarantees, outside player limits and salary limits. The March meeting is expected to see officers elected and definite action taken on all the foregoing questions.

Whether Rochester will be found in the newly organized league will depend upon the decision of the representatives at the March meeting. C. H. McQuillan stated that unless the rules are modified and Rochester is permitted to star Swede Risberg, outlaid former member of the Chicago White Sox, and the salary restrictions changed from the individual ratings now governing to govern the team as a whole, then Rochester would continue outside the league.

Another feature of the meeting was the withdrawal of Adams from the league on account of the failure of attendance during the latter part of last season.

AT FT. SNELLING TRAPS SUNDAY

St. Paul, Feb. 26.—A. R. Chozik of Portal, N. D., won first place in the Twin City Shooting association's 10th annual midwinter tournament at Fort Snelling Sunday, when he scored 143 breaks out of a possible 250. I. H. Dart and Dr. Cook were tied for second place with 140 breaks each. Captain W. H. Fawcett broke 139.

J. E. Dickey and C. W. Renfro, Minneapolis professionals, tied for first place in their division with 145 breaks.

Marketing Golf Balls With Word "Official" Ruled Law Violation

Washington, Feb. 26.—Marketing of golf balls with the word "official" branded on their covers is a violation of law, the federal trade commission ruled in a decision handed down here unless the permission for such branding has been granted by "some competent authority." The Allied Golf company of Chicago, under the decision, was ordered to cease such branding.

Luis Angel Firpo has been making South American hay while hoping that the North American sun will shine on his ambitions to reap a harvest of American dollars in a bout with Harry Wills. Tom Connolly Turns Quarter Century Mark As Umpire This Year

Chicago, Feb. 26.—When the cry of "play ball" is sounded on April 15 by Tommy "Pop" Connolly, veteran American league umpire, he will turn the quarter century mark as a major league arbiter. Four years additional in the Eastern league, 1894 to 1897, inclusive, ran his mark to the highest total of all umpires, now that Bob Emslie has retired.

Connolly went from the Eastern league to the National league in 1898, and in 1901, along with Pongo Joe Cantillon, Jack Sheridan and J. Haskell, he went over to the then newly formed American league.

Word from him at his home in Natick, Mass., received at American league headquarters here, indicates that he is as active as ever and awaiting the annual call to the diamond.

UNIVERSITY TO LET BIG CONTRACTS

Minneapolis, Feb. 26.—Members of the greater university corporation will probably award contracts let this week for the new stadium and auditorium.

About a dozen bids were considered at a meeting last night, and returned to the building committee of engineers and architects members for further tabulation.

None thought it well to subdivide the bids, according to Charles F. Keyes of the building committee, because of the $1,600,000 which eventually will be available will come in installments—six from the student contributions and five from alumni and outsiders.

Plumbing, heating and wiring bids, however, will be separate.

Minneapolis, Feb. 26.—A state free throw tournament for amateur basketball teams will be conducted by the Y. M. C. A. on March 14 and 15, Ralph W. Foster of the Minneapolis "Y" announced today. The contest is open to any amateur team in Minnesota, and school, church and independent teams are sending in their registrations.

According to the rules of the tournament, seven men will compose the team in this competition. Each man will have 50 shots at the basket from the free throw line; the total number of successful shots will constitute the team score. Each team will compete in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium of its home town and the results sent to the Minneapolis "Y" for determination of the winner. Silver loving cups will be awarded the winning team and the individual with the highest score.

LAME ANKLE BOTHERS WILLIAM T. TILDEN

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 26.—A lame ankle was assigned today by friends of William T. Tilden, tennis champion, as the reason for his defeat in two matches here.

In the final round of the Buffalo Squash and Tennis club's indoor tournament, Manuel Alonso, Spanish star, beat Tilden 6-4, 1-6, 6-1, 3-6, 6-4. Tilden hurt his ankle in the semifinals.

Tilden was erratic throughout, especially at the net, where he frequently netted the ball on seemingly easy chances.

RUB PAIN OUT OF RHEUMATIC JOINTS

For 65 years, millions have rubbed soothing, penetrating St. Jacobs Oil right on the tender spot, and by the time they say Jack Robinson—out comes the rheumatic pain and distress. St. Jacobs Oil is a harmless rheumatism and pain unit which never disappoints and doesn't burn the skin. It takes pain, soreness and stiffness from aching joints, muscles and bones; stops sciatica, lumbago, backache and neuralgia. 35 cent bottle guaranteed by all druggists.—Advt.

END A HEAD COLD QUICKLY; JUST USE THIS PURE CREAM

If your nostrils are clogged, your throat distressed, or your head is stuffed by nasty catarrh or a cold, apply a little pure, antiseptic, germ destroying cream into your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage, soothing inflamed, swollen membranes and you get instant relief.

How good it feels. Your nostrils are open. Your head is clear. No more hawking, snuffling, dryness or struggling for breath. Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from any druggist. Colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed up. Relief is sure.—Advt
